DISTRICT OF NEVADA

Jason Marcus Jones,

Plaintiff

v.

Darin Balaam, et al.,

Defendants

Case No.: 3:20-cv-00323-JAD-WGC

Order Dismissing Action

[ECF Nos. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10]

Plaintiff Jason Marcus Jones brings this civil-rights case under § 1983 for events he alleges occurred during his incarceration at the Washoe County Detention Facility.¹ On January 14, 2021, the magistrate judge ordered Jones to file an updated address with the court on or before February 12, 2021.² The magistrate judge expressly warned him that his failure to timely comply with the order would result in the dismissal of this case.³ The deadline has passed, and Jones has not filed an updated address.

District courts have the inherent power to control their dockets and “[i]n the exercise of that power, they may impose sanctions including, where appropriate . . . dismissal” of a case.⁴ A court may dismiss an action with prejudice based on a party’s failure to prosecute an action, failure to obey a court order, or failure to comply with local rules.⁵ In determining whether to

1 dismiss an action for lack of prosecution, failure to obey a court order, or failure to comply with
 2 local rules, the court must consider several factors: (1) the public's interest in expeditious
 3 resolution of litigation; (2) the court's need to manage its docket; (3) the risk of prejudice to the 4 defendants; (4) the public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits; and (5) the 5 availability of less drastic alternatives.⁶

6 I find that the first two factors—the public's interest in expeditiously resolving the 7 litigation and the court's interest in managing the docket—weigh in favor of dismissing this case.
 8 The risk-of-prejudice factor also weighs in favor of dismissal because a presumption of injury
 9 arises from the occurrence of unreasonable delay in filing a pleading ordered by the court or 10 prosecuting an action.⁷ The fourth factor is greatly outweighed by the factors in favor of 11 dismissal, and a court's warning to a party that his failure to obey the court's order will result in 12 dismissal satisfies the consideration-of-alternatives requirement.⁸ Jones was warned that his case
 13 would be dismissed without prejudice if he failed to update his address by February 12, 2021.⁹
 14 So, Jones had adequate warning that his failure to update his address would result in this case's 15 dismissal.
